The unique nature of the Public Lands District is reflected in the types of uses allowed in the District, location of such properties in the midst of the residential, commercial and industrial district and the need for the provision of public facilities. Because of this uniqueness, signage in the Public Lands District should be appropriate for the area in which the property is located, should be sensitive to the neighboring land uses, and should serve the public properly. Any signage accessory to a use in the Public Lands District should be restricted to that which is necessary to serve the public, taking into consideration the area and land uses most impacted by the signage. Therefore, signs will be permitted and then only if accessory and incidental to a Special Use allowed in the district.
